United Against Measles - Strategies for Prevention, Education, and Community Engagement

A promotional graphic for the "United Against Measles" event. It features a blue background with white text and two circular portraits of women. On the left, there's a computer monitor icon. The text reads: "United Against Measles: Strategies for Prevention, Education, and Community Engagement" followed by "Wednesday, March 27 | 3:00 PM" and "Live Spanish interpretation available | Interpretación en vivo en español disponible". Below the text are two circular portraits: one of Dr. Arti Barnes, MD, MPH, and another of Dra. Geraldine Luna, MD, MPH, MBAc. At the bottom, the logos for IDPH (Illinois Department of Public Health) and CDPH (Chicago Department of Public Health) are displayed.

Join the Illinois Department of Public Health (IDPH) and the Chicago Department of Public Health (CDPH) for a bi-lingual one-hour virtual townhall designed to inform and empower community members in the fight against measles.
