NIRCO ROSC Presents Justice Impacted Families

We Listen. We Don't Judge: A Community Roundtable Focus Discussion

If incarceration has touched your life in any way – this circle is for you.

This Justice Impacted Families and ROSC facilitated roundtable discussion creates a safe, welcoming space for individuals, families, and community members impacted by incarceration, substance use, or system involvement. This is not a lecture or panel; it is a facilitated conversation that centers lived experience, mutual respect, and open dialogue—free from judgment or stigma. Voices are honored, stories matter, and community connection is built.

What This Space Offers

- Honest, respectful conversations grounded in lived experience
- Stories from formerly incarcerated individuals and impacted families
- Reflections from adults who grew up with an incarcerated parent
- Healing dialogue around identity, stigma, and life “inside” or “outside” the system
- Peer-led, judgment-free support where every voice matters
